SURFACE OIL

Quarter of an Inch Deep on Running Water

An Accidental Discovery of Surface Oil Was Made Tuesday on the Lawler Place

Tuesday Mr. J. Lawler and Frank Roberts, of Petaluma drove in a Reo car to the Lawler place in the foothills above town for the purpose of locating a spring or a large supply of water and in their search came across a running stream, which, on investigation, proved to carry about a quarter of an inch of oil on its surface.

Investigation showed further indications of oil and showed a formation of an oil bearing nature.

Mr. Roberts is convinced that Mr. Lawler has better prospects for oil on the surface than the wells at Petaluma have even at the depth they have gone. He is a man of capital and has had considerable experience in delving for oil and speaks in loud praise and conviction of the discovery Tuesday.

Mr. Lawler needs no introduction, as he resided here many years, and is well known to all.

These gentlemen informs us that hey will return in a few days and make further investigation and will take immediate steps toward the forming of a company to develop t eir discovery.

As stated in these columns some weeks ago other residents of this valley believe they have indications of oil on their property and it only needs a leading spirit to start the ball rolling. When one firm starts others will follow.

A mining expert and student of geological formation of over thirty years experience—now a resident of San Rafael—informs us that he has been interested in the oil indication in this and Petaluma valleys for a number of years and has always contended that were oil ever found in Petaluma district, there was sure to be oil found in Sonoma Valley as they lay in exactly the same belt of formation with the indications better for Sonoma than Petaluma. This gentleman is an outsider, so to speak, and has no particular interest in either valley or capital invested and has no cause for exaggeration.

Frequently we have heard of farmers who find soil that looks oily even on the surface, many of whom firmly believe they have good indications of oil.

Taking the aforementioned facts into consideration, it is apparent to all that if oil is in large enough quantities to force its way to the surface there must be a large and inexhaustible supply further down, well worth the delving for, and should investigation find the supply Sonoma va ley will add one more feather to its already gaily bedecked cap—in fact it will add an immense plume of untold value.

Contract for R. R. Extension

The contract for building the new road from Sherwood to Pepperwood on the Willite-Eureka line, has been let by the Northwestern Pacific Company, the I. X. L. Construction Company of Bishop, being the successful bidder. Work will be commenced at once and rushed to completion.

The building of the thirty miles of road from Sherwood to Pepperwood will be a problem that will not be easy for the engineers. The survey traverses a very rough country and one point near Shively, a tunnel of 1150 feet in length will be cut through the rock. Concerning the work, President Payson declared a short time ago that the thirty miles of construction contemplated in the appropriation of two million dollars, which has been made, probably would be prosecuted south of Shively to the Eel river crossing at Dyerville and north from Willits to the Covelo bridge, It is proposed to complete the grade and lay four miles of track north of Willits during the fall and winter.—Argus.

YE MIS SION BELLS

Ye Mission Bells, ye Mission Bells,
How silent now are you, O Bells.
The swallows flutter in and out,
The grey mice scamper all about.

The tower, O! Bells, as empty now.
Thy Mission's walls are crumbling too;
With aching hearts we gaze on all,
The burning teardrops softly fall.

We think of years long past and gone,
When thou, old Bells, tolled slowly on;
Of monks with solomn chanting low,
Who faded like a winter's snow.

The rustling of the bladed grass,
Soft whispered tales of faded past.
The reverent worshipers solomn tread,
Are now the the footfalls of the dead.

But we'll restore your Mission Bells.
And your sweet tongues their music tell,
To gladden hearts that walk these dells,
And echoes wake, sweet Mission Bells.

M. C. S,

Crop Values of Our State

Investigations that have been made into the yields of various crops in California by The California Promotion Committee give insight into the vast importance of those industries to which little consideration is generally given. According to the calculations of The Committee the total industrial output of the State for the year 1908 amounted to $1,005,000,000. Of this vast total agriculture played a very important part, its production amounting to more than $4,000,000. How much importance is to be attached to these figures is better understood when it is realized that this output is just double that of three years ago.

Fifteen years ago, wheat was about the only grain grown, and at that time it was the mainstay of agriculture. The average annual production of wheat then was valued at about $40,000,000, with other grains comparatively without computative value In 1908 wheat value had fallen to about $19,000,000 while barley had increased to $26,841,394, raised on land valued at more than $50,000,000. Rye, which increases annually in output, was valued at $228,000, making a total output value of these two grains of more than $27,000,000 which was more than combined values of all other cereal products of the State.

Hops, also, which is a growing industry, makes a heavy output on an invested capital of about $7,000,000. The Committee is now preparing a handbook on hop growing, which will be distributed extensively among the hop growers of the Kent, England, district with the expectation of inducing a large number of Kentish hop growers to emigrate to California.

More than half of the grape vines growing in the United States are in California, with an annual output value of more than $25,000,000 and for the production of which there is an invested capital of more than one hundred million dollars. About one hundred and sixty million dollars o capital is invested in these four industries in California and from these four productions alone, barley, rye hops and grapes, the State receives an income of nearly fifty four million dollars, or one fourth of the total for all agricultural products.

Found a Later Will

A second and later will has been found among the papers of the late Mrs. Amelia Lubeck, who for many years lived and conducted a boarding school at "Locust Grove," near Sonoma, and on Monday it was offered for probate in the Superior Court and the former petition was dismissed. The last will leaves all the property to Isabelle Landsborough, and it is valued at several thousand dollars. A. A. Sanderson is the attorney for the new petition and was for the old one.

Mrs. Lubeck was widely known and in the private chapel on the place services were frequently held and the rite of the Episcopal church administered by Bishop Moreland and other prelates and priests. She was a very philanthropic woman and her acts of kindness were many—Press-Democrat.

Talk on Horticulture

The twelfth semi-annual meeting of the Counties Committee of the California Promotion Committee, which is to be held at Visalia, Saturday, November 13. will have for its theme a subject that will deeply interest everyone in California. The development of the fruit growing industry has meant much for the development of the State and at Visalia representatives from all parts of California will discuss "Horticulture in California."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the deceased portion of the ear There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing ane when it is entirely clored, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1909

The business men of Sonoma and vicinity are to be complimented for their generousity in contributing funds to help the several societies and orders that have called upon them within the past few months. We realize it has been a heavy draw and strain upon their purse strings and in their showing their generousity in this manner proves them interested in Sonoma valley and all its residents. To show their appreciation of this wholeheartedness the people must try to patronize Sonoma business men—buy all their goods in Sonoma and not send away to San Francisco for things and in nine cases out of ten pay more than they do here. A well petted dog is good natured and even ready to wag his tail when one appears, but try the kicking remedy and the dog will turn and run away with tail lowered and a savage growl. The reason is obvious—stand by those who stand by you.

Rev. Payne's Address

Sunday evening a large crowd assembled in the Methodist Church and listened to the address of Rev. Payne on "Bread and Civilation," and upon his appearance, we behold a man of erect bearing and with hair white as snow, which to us seemed permaturely grey as his continance was that of a man well preserved in in his latter years and apparently much older than his looks signified.

His address was begun in a fluent and easy way, gradually warming up to his subject without an extra effort, profound and deep thoughts flowed freely, clenching themselves on each listener's mind, bringing home the fact that all present were listening to a man well schooled, broadminded, a deep thinker and a student of nature; a man who can turn to readily use the most simple occurances of every day life and with their simplicities illustrate his deeper thoughts.

Yes, the whole address, from the beginning, though the numerous paths and byways to the end was a theme of deep thought, successfully and carefully carried to a final climax, leaving the audience with many an idea of worth and great value for future consideration.

At the close of the services, the Men's League adjourned to the parlors of the church and there held a meeting.

Several names were proposed for membership and duly elected as such.

Rev, Payne was elected an honorary member.

It was decided to hold one or more meetings in some hall in the near future and a committee was appointed to arrange for same.

All business being transacted, a motion to adjourn closed the meeting.

Thumb Nearly Severed

Joe Keiser is another added to the injured this week. Monday while engaged in raising bales of hay with block and tackle his right hand became caught in the block, twisting the flesh from the bone of his thumb. Dr. Hays dressed the wound and took five stitches. Joe now enjoys (?) a forced vacation.

Don't be a Kicker

If you are a kicker and see the shadows of failure in everything that is proposed to help the town, for heaven's sake go into some secluded canyon and kick your own shadow on the clay bank, and give the men who are working to build up the town a chance. One long-faced, hollow eyed whining, caping chronic kicker can do more to keep away business and capital from a town than all the drouths, short crops, chinch bugs, cyclones and blizzards combined.—EXCHANGE.

QUARRIES SOLD

Mammoth Deal Closed and the Schocken Quarries Purchased by Syndicate

Company Takes Immediate Possession and Will Install Large Plant. Will Build Electric Line to Tide Water

S. Shocken is jubilant over the fact that he has closed a deal whereby the Schocken quarries above town has been sold to the Natamos Consolidated Company of San Francisco, a syndicate with a capital stock of $25,000,000. There is no hot air or boost to this deal as the money has been paid and the deal is binding and final. This company expect to begin immediately on the erection of a large rock crushing plant and other improvements and and will employment of over 100 men permanently.

In the employment of these 100 men our population will be increased at least 250 and the neat little sum of at least $7000 per month will be the monthly pay roll of this firm.

The company has not as yet fully given out their plans, but it is understood that they will make their new crusher one of the largest and most thoroughly equipped in the state. We are informed the company will put in an electric railroad from the quarries to tide water, where barges will take the product to market.

This comes as a great boon to Sonoma and all residents are more than glad to learn that the deal has been closed.

Torn by Wire

Sunday evening W. H. Bridges lit his lantern and started out to drive his horse from the enclosure around his house. The horse ran and became entangled in a barbed wire that was laying on the ground. Becoming frightened it plunged forward with the loose end of the wire wrapped around its left hind leg, dragging the wire forward and catching Bridges in the back part of the knees—directly at the bend and on his right leg tearing a gash six inches in length and just missing the cords of the limb. The gash on this leg was opened to a width of two inches.

On the right leg the gash was about 3 inches in length and not quite so deep. Dr. Leix was called and arrived almost immediately and stopped the flow of blood and was forced to take seven stitches in the right leg and two in the left. "Pop" is now resting easily and the wounds are healing nicely, but he will be confined to the bed for two weeks or more.

The horse was badly torn and weak from loss of blood. Dr. Bateman was called and soon had the animal's wounds dressed and stated that no cords were cut and although badly torn all cuts were only flesh wounds and the horse would be as good as ever in a short time.

Wins Fine Berth

Again a Sonoma boy has passed from our fertile fields and after many years of unceasing effort, energy and natural adaptability has won for himself a berth for life, a birth that will turn the eyes of those who remained at home green with envy when they learn of his achievement.

Mathew C. Johnson, is, or properly speaking,, was the boy, who left Sonoma, and turned his eyes towards the sea and, following in the footsteps of his father, Capt. Johnson, wrestled wind and wave and at the close of each year's conflict made a step higher until now, after serving as captain on the "Spokane," "Caroue" and numerous other crafts reached the pinacle of success in being appointed captain of the fireboat, "David Scannell," on Monday of this week, being honored by the appointment against 364 applicants.

He now has a berth for life at a salary of $175 per month and well be retired at the age of fifty on full pay.

Matt, as he is best known to us, is the son of Capt. J. Johnson, who lived many years in Buena Vista and has just recently sold his property here and moved to the city.

All have read of these powerful fire boats which have just been built by the Risdon Iron Works and that they are powerful enough to knock down a large building. Congratulations, Matt. May your berth be more pleasant than you anticipate.

City Council Meeting

Wednesday evening's meeting of the City Council was a banner meeting.

All trustees were present.

Bills amounting to $333.80 were allowed, and the usual monthly contract with the electric light company was continued one month.

Much to the surprise of all there were seven ladies present: Mrs. Stofen, Miss Stofen, Miss Doris Clewe, Mrs. L. V. Emparan, Mrs. H. Watters, Mrs. Wagnon and Mrs. G. H. Hotz. And, as afterwards developed, these ladies were present with a purpose, and Mrs. Stofen, at an opportune moment, in behalf of the Sonoma Valley Woman's Club, formally presented to the city of Sonoma the drinking fountain at the intersection of Broadway and Napa streets, which was accepted with thanks.

Mrs. Emparan was next on the floor and in behalf of the same club presented the rustic fountain, recently erected in front of the City Hall which was also accepted with many thanks.

Mrs Stofen then ask permission for the club to erect a mission bell on the side walk at the intersection of Spain and First Street East, and, after gaining permission, invited the honorable board to be present at the erection services which will take place on October 25th.

F. T. Duhring, who had been waiting in the gloaming with a bulging pocket, next assailed the trustees and after a few appropriate remarks presented a petition signed by over 80 stalward taxpayers, asking the trustees to take immediate preliminary steps toward the installation of a sewer system for this city.

Considerable discussion followed pro and con and a number of cities of like size were cited, which had or were to have a like system which cost from $25,000 to $30,000. Investigation proved that Sonoma has eight and one-twelfth miles of streets or 42,663 feet. which would bring the construction well within the $30,000 mark.

The petition was finally accepted and President Breitenbach appointed the Street Committee to make the the necessary arrangements with a capable engineer and ascertain the approximate cost. and when this is done the trustees will call a special meeting and take further steps toward the ultimate installation of the system.

It was agreed to change the street lights on Broadway to more advantageous positions.

Trustee Bates asked for 8 inch piping to be laid just north of the City Hall to carry off the water of the coming rainy season.

The Masonic lodge was given permission to lay a 4 inch water drain from their new building on First Street West, across the street to the storm ditch running along the west side of the plaza.

F. T. Duhring asked the Trustees to take further steps toward putting in a sewer pipe across Napa Street from Duhring's store to the Dal Pogetto building in place of the wood sewer now in existance. The street committee was instructed to attend to the matter.

Trustee Quartaroli was in favor of grading several portions of streets before graveling same. Finally it was decided to order three carloads of crushed rock and distribute over the streets as needed.

No further business appearing the board adjourned.

High School Report

We wish to acknowledge more plants and to thank the senders.

Hurray for the trustees! Two days off in Portola week! The 21st and 22nd of October.

Don't forget the basket ball game between our boys and Napa, October 16 at Union Hall. Our boys are to begin their new record. Be there, we need your assistance in cheering.

A few weeks ago, the boys discovered that the girls had a secret. Well, the secret has leaked out,—it is High Jinks. A meeting was held Wednesday, and three committees were appointed. The chairman are: Decorations, Marjorie Buchan; refreshments, Edna Cooper; invitation, Emily Poppe. The boys were present at the meeting, but left in a hurry when it was moved that every one in the room be assessed fifteen cents for expenses. That High Jinks promises to great!

Club Women at the Portola Festival

One of the attractive features of Portola festivities in San Francisco and one that will be of special interest to visiting club women from every part of the country, will be the establishment of headquarters at the St. Francis Hotel by the State Federation of Woman's Clubs. These headquarters will be in the Red Room and the mezzanine floor and will be open each afternoon from October nineteenth to twenty-third, inclusive, from one to five o'clock. Mrs. James B. Hume, the state president, will act as leading hostess on these occasions and will be assisted by a large committee of ladies from the clubs around the bay and also as far as possible from the more distant parts of the state. The personnel of the committee will be changed from day to day in order that as many clubs as possible may be represented.

There will be refreshments and some music and all visiting club women are cordially invited to avail themselves of this restful place in which to spend a pleasant hour. The final arrangements under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Orr, are being completed to make these afternoon receptions among the most enjoyable and attractive features of the Portola week.

A Good Show Assured

It is a welcome bit of news that the Metropolitan Stock Company are to play a return engagement here for three nights, beginning Oct. 13.

Much advertising and a poor production by an unknown company is so much the rule nowadays that the opportunity to see a company which is known to us is a pleasant prospect.

Judging from the press notices the Metropolitans have been making a hit in Petaluma and Santa Rosa. The Press-Democrat says: "Best since the earthquake."

During the last eight weeks eight new plays have been presented in Petaluma and Santa Rosa. A selection of the best and most popular of these will be offered in Sonoma.

Since their last appearance here the company has been strengthened by additional people well known to Sonoma theatre goers—Harry Belmour and Etta Delmas. The other members still remain. Mis Edward has secured some excellent new songs. Robert Selman and Nellie Lynn are said to be the most clever leading people who have ever appeared in stock either in Santa Rosa or Petaluma. Popular prices will remain the same as usual—25 cents general admission, reserved seats 35.

ESS AND ACCURACY.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S AIM ALWAYS HAS BEEN to give positive and VALUABLE SERVICE for every dollar received, therefore when he began professional life he sought to especially in the treatment of a very large class of cases that were being maltreated by many physicians through ignorance of their real nature.

This necessitated GOING TO THE ROOT OF THINGS in two special senses,—IN CAREFUL, EXHAUSTIVE STUDY to know what was the real cause of the innumerable aches, pains, drains and weaknesses which afflicted women, and AGAIN TO THE ROOTS which Nature had provided so plentifully for the HEALING OF MANKIND.

Thoroughly convinced that alcoholic stimulants and medicines prepared with alcohol did far more harm than good, Dr. Pierce prepared his remedies, extracted their virtues and preserved them without alcohol, then, guided by actual experience, formed combinations by which a minimum of medicine produced the maximum result. This insured his success and gave him the reputation of "the successful specialist," and, quite naturally, the prescription that he thus used most became "HIS FAVORITE," and was the origin of

as now known. In no sense is it a "patent medicine," or even a secret one, but a

that had run into great popularity because it cured more than ninety-eight out of every hundred of the cases in which it was correctly used.

One of the important ingredients of this now world-famous "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" is which was in great repute among the American Indians a century ago. The squaws used it for the relief of their special troubles, particularly for the easing of the pains of maternity, calling it "Papoose root." Then there are four other ingredients in this "PRESCRIPTION," namely: Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Golden Seal root and Unicorn root.

It Stands Alone not only in respect to its known composition, but also as the only specific, advertised remedy for woman's diseases which absolutely CONTAINS NO ALCOHOL.

It Stands Alone as the one medicine for women, the makers of which take their patients fully into their confidence and tell them exactly what they are taking. This Dr. Pierce can afford to do, because his "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" is made of such ingredients and after a working formula that has thousands of cures to its credit, placing its merits above criticism.

1000-page Doctor Book sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover postage only; 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Formerly sold for $1.50 to extent of over 500,000 copies. Every family should possess a copy for ready reference in case of sudden illness or accident. It is illustrated with hundreds of wood-cuts and several colored plates. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Vulture and Rattler.

An odd battle between a California vulture and a rattlesnake was witnessed in the Cocopah mountains of Lower California. It was in the early morning. The big bird had seized the snake behind the head and was struggling upward with its writhing, deadly burden. The snake's captor appeared aware that its victim was dangerous. The burden was heavy, as the reptile was nearly five feet long.

The grip of the bird on the snake's body was not of the best. The snake seemed to be squirming from its captor's talons, at least sufficiently to enable it to strike. Its triangular head was seen to recoil and dart at the mass of feathers.

It did this once or twice, and then with a shriek the vulture dropped its prey. The bird was probably 500 feet or so above the observers. The astonished men were then treated to a spectacle seldom seen. Few birds but a vulture could accomplish such a feat.

The instant the snake escaped from the bird's clutches it dropped earthward like a shot, and like a shot the bird dropped after it, catching it in midair with a grip that caused death. At any rate, the snake ceased to wriggle, and the vulture soared away to a mountain peak to devour its hard earned meal.

The Distinguished Guest.

Captain Raabe was a man whose name had weight in the French cavalry. He was a tall man, belonging to the middle aged trooper type. With military qualities of the highest kind, he had a singular bearing, a savage sort of misanthropy and a cynical tongue, which stood in the way of promotion. When he was in the Sixth lancers, on garrison duty at Commercy, one of his comrades brought his father to dine with him at the officers' mess, a man of humble position and unpretentiously dressed. Captain Raabe, considering that this guest had not been fitly received, gave expression to his opinion, saying that if the executioner of Commercy had come in evening dress he would have had a better reception. The officers demurring, he made no rejoinder, but shortly afterward came to mess with a guest whose dress was irreproachable. Every one lavished attentions on the unknown. When dinner was over Captain Raabe, raising his glass, proposed the health of "the executioner of Commercy."

A Clever Acrobat.

A diverting anecdote is told in "Annals of the Liverpool Stage" of an unrehearsed episode that occurred at the Hop, a cheap but popular place of entertainment. A troupe of acrobats were engaged, and one of their number gave a "single turn" in which he displayed his skill as a champion weight lifter. Somebody, however, on mischief bent, changed one of the fifty-six pound weights for one made of cardboard. The strong man's vision was impaired by the loss of one eye, but in this instance not unfortunately so. He took the first and second weights, and after having manipulated them he took the third, the one made of cardboard. Realizing in an instant what had been done, he as quickly decided to turn it to his own advantage by throwing three "flip-flaps" while holding the dummy weight. He was greeted with a perfect round of applause, and the audience declared it to be the greatest feat they had ever witnessed.

Not Built That Way.

For the first time the old lady was about to make a railway journey, and when she arrived at the station she did not know what to do.

"Young man," she said to a porter, who looked about as old as Methuselah, "can you tell me where I can get my ticket?"

"Why, mum," he replied, "you get it at the boking office through the pigeonhole."

Being very stout, she looked at the hole in amazement, and then she burst out in a rage:

"Go away with you, you old idiot! How can I get through there? I ain't no blessed pigeon!"—London Answers

An Arrangement Approved.

"So they have reduced the number of trains that stop at your station?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Crossiots. "There are only two a day at present—one to take us to town in the morning and one to bring us back at night."

"It must be a great disappointment."

"Not at all. When we get a servant now she's obliged to stay at least one day."—Exchange.

Hard to Choose.

"Why can't she make a choice between her suitors?"

"Well, one of them is a press agent. His language is very attractive. But the other is a traveling salesman, and he treats her as if she were a big buyer."—Kansas City Journal.

Badly Expressed.

Mabel—I don't believe you really meant it when you said you were anxious to hear me sing. Sam—Oh, I assure you I did! You see, I had never heard you sing before.—London Pick-Me-Up.

A Good Example.

Father (in a lecturing mood)—You never heard of a man getting into trouble by following a good example. Son (incorrigible)—Yes, sir. I have—the counterfeiter.—Boston Transcript.

Perambulation.

"I should think Mr. Beetem's debts would keep him walking the floor."

"They don't. But they keep a lot of bill collectors walking the streets."—Washington Star.

LEGAL WORD SPECIALISTS.

Have to Know Exact Shade of Meaning In Words and Phrases.

"Some people seem to think that an important legal document can be drawn up by a lawyer in the time it takes his client to smoke a cigar," remarked a gray haired law clerk the other day. "It takes time and the most scrupulous care to get things just right. If lawyers were not careful the Lord only knows where the clients would land.

"Why, I know a man in one of the great law offices who is a specialist in the exact shade of meaning of each word or phrase used in a legal document. Nothing goes out of that office without being submitted first to him to pass upon. Sometimes he will give a week to the study of but one short but very important paper, theorizing as to the possibilities of its meaning being construed this way and that. When he gets through with a document, however, and has submitted every word of it to the acid test there is practically no chance of its not being exactly right, as to its verbiage at least. In some cases, too, it is deemed desirable by clients to becloud the meaning of a contract so that there is a loophole for its being construed in another way in the event of certain contingencies occurring. That is where the services of an expert word juggler are indispensable.

"The biggest case that I ever heard of in this line was when one of the great corporations wished to issue some mortgage bonds against its property. A long contract had to be drawn, and the wording on the back of the bond had to be decided upon. The matter was so important that, after the attorneys themselves had decided on the forms to be used, it was turned over to two of these experts in verbiage.

"They looked up the dictionary meaning of practically every word used in the two documents and made innumerable changes and suggestions. Before the papers were finished thirty different drafts of each of the two documents had been made, and there was not a word used in the final form of the papers that had not been considered carefully, not only as to its individual meaning, but also as to its individual relation to the other words of the phrase or sentence containing it. It is safe to say that these two documents are never likely to be assailed successfully in a court of law and that they mean exactly what the corporation and its counsel wished them to mean."—New York Press.

Told to Earn His Own Salary.

Commodore Vanderbilt discovered in James H. Rutter, then in the employ of the Erie railroad, a man he believed the freight department of the Central needed, says the Baltimore News. It is related that some time after he took charge of the Central's traffic office Rutter called on the commodore to submit a plan for improvement. When he had stated the case the president looked at him sharply and asked:

"Rutter, what does the New York Central pay you $15,000 a year for?"

The reply was, "For managing the freight traffic department."

And then the commodore said, "Well, you don't expect me to earn your salary for you, do you?"

Rutter went out and carried through his plan on his own judgment. The result was highly satisfactory. Rutter became president of the Central.

Exception to the Rule.

"I have a boy in my school of whom I am very fond," said a New York teacher smilingly, "but I fear to think what his future may be."

"Indeed? Does he evince—er—criminal tendencies?" some grave person who had missed the smile inquired.

"Well, I am afraid he may become a writer for funny papers," the teacher suggested tentatively. "You see, I was having a history review one day, and I asked this boy who was Peter the Great. He answered, 'A czar of Russia.'"

"And was there more than one Peter the Great?" I asked.

"He appeared to ponder for a moment and then replied, 'No, Miss Mary, that was a case in which history didn't re-Pete itself.'"—Judge.

Two Ways of Telling It.

Once upon a time a Persian king in his sleep dreamed that all of his teeth fell out before him, one by one. He summoned a soothsayer and asked him to interpret the dream.

The soothsayer said, "O king, the meaning of thy dream is that thy family and relatives shall die in thy presence, one by one, till all are gone."

The king was very angry at that and sent the soothsayer at once to prison.

Then he sent for another soothsayer and again asked for an interpretation of the dream.

The soothsayer made answer, "O king, the interpretation of thy dream is that thy family and relatives shall die, one by one, and thou thyself shall outlive them all."

With this answer the king showed approval and commanded that a present be given to the interpreter and that he should be sent home with honor.

Boar Hunting In Brittany.

Boar hunting in Brittany is full of exciting incidents, and the boars seldom die unavenged, for, though they are beset by mounted hunters and peasantry on foot armed with guns, the lifeblood of many a hound is drawn before the savage old tusker yields up his life. His dangerous powers of offense cease only with his last gasp. Though the grip of the bulldog, the yelping of the hounds, the din of horns and the cries of the beaters may force him from his lair to seek refuge in flight, that withdrawal may be set down rather to prudence and disgust than to any fear. When at last he is brought to bay, with his back against a rock or a tree trunk, he is ready to defy a host. Met in a narrow alley of the forest, neither man nor horse can withstand the avalanche of his onset. Not infrequently the hunter who loves his hounds will feel but little triumph even in the death of many boars if, having begun the season with a large pack, he ends it with a miserable remnant, having left all his best and bravest dogs on the field of battle.

Hoarseness in a child subject to croup is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given at once or even after the croupy cough has appeared, it will prevent the attack. Contains no poison. Sold by all druggists.

First Wheel Clock.

Some say that Archimedes made the first wheel clock as early at 200 B. C. Others give credit to Wallingford, who lived so late as the beginning of the fourteenth century. But the most perfect water clocks were, long before the latter period, furnished with wheels, so that the only improvement was the substitution of a solid body to act as a moving weight instead of water. It is not to be wondered at that the application of a weight to clocks as a moving power should attract so little attention, as water and sand were undoubtedly thought more convenient by contemporary writers. The oldest complete clock moved by weights is probably that sent by the sultan of Turkey to Frederick II. in 1232. In the thirteenth century many of the church steeples in Italy were furnished with clocks moved by weights, which struck the hours. Hele of Nuremberg is supposed to have constructed the first watch in 1500, and to him must also be given the credit of the spring clock. The fusee was probably invented in England about the end of the sixteenth century. But it was not until the middle of the seventeenth century that the pendulum was first applied to clocks by Huyghens.

"The Picnic Stretch."

Though a brilliant conversationalist, George Meredith had, of course, his silent moods, and he happened to be in one of them at a certain picnic. Next to him sat a lady, herself a good talker, who had been looking forward to this meeting for days and, it may be guessed, preparing for it—in vain. The only sentence that passed his lips was when he reached slightly across her for the salt—"Excuse the picnic stretch."—Manchester Guardian.

The pleasant purgative effect experienced by all who use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and the healthy condition of the body and mind which they create, makes one feel joyful. Sold by all druggists.

A Philosopher's Fable.

Arthur Aull is responsible for this one:

"Folly, Genius and Common Sense once went walking and came to a stream. Genius, having his head in the clouds, naturally started to wade across, paying no attention to the depth. The waters soon went over his head, and he was drowned. Common Sense hunted for a safe way to get across, and finally he found a foot log. As he got out about the center of the stream the log swayed, and he fell into the water and sank to rise no more. Folly stopped at the bank of the stream to amuse himself by throwing pebbles into the water and watching the waves. He sat upon the moist, cold bank until he caught a cold which developed into pneumonia, of which he soon died. Moral.—It doesn't make much difference, after all, whether you are a genius, a sage or a fool. You'll get it sooner or later anyway."—Exchange.

Origin of Curtain Calls.

The first curtain call took place on the evening of Feb. 26, 1743. On that memorable evening Voltaire's "Merope" was performed for the first time in Paris. The author was known to the Paris public, but nothing that they had seen of his had pleased them so much as "Merope," and the enthusiasm found expression in noisy demands to see the author. In a letter Voltaire says this of the incident: "They dragged me out and led me by force to the box occupied by the Duchesse de Villars and her daughter-in-law. The whole theater seemed to have gone mad—all shouted to the duchesse to kiss me. The noise became so great that the lady finally obeyed. So I was, like Alain Chartier, publicly kissed, but he was asleep, while I was wide awake." Now authors answer similar calls by appearing before the curtain. They gain in so far that they can be seen better by their audience, but they must dispense with the duchesse's kiss—at least in public.—Berliner Tageblatt.

Fertilizing Young Orchards.

Very little is known of the problem of fertilizing young orchards. To do the right thing one must beware of nitrogenous manures for at least two years and on some lands for even a longer period. We never knew one to be hurt by seasonable applications of potash or phosphoric acid, though we would warn against heavy applications of rock phosphate as being wasteful.

Living In the Electric Light.

Writing to a friend in the country, a New York merchant says: "I live in the electric light. I leave my home at 7 o'clock, after dressing and taking my breakfast by electric light. Then I go to the subway, one block distant, and ride to within a block of my office. There I work all day by electric light and go home again by the subway and spend the evening in the glare of the incandescent lamp. The weather conditions make no difference, because my flat and my office belong to the semidark kind. Sometimes I wonder what I would do without electric light, and sometimes I ask myself when I yearn for a little sunlight, Is the new light really a blessing?"—New York Tribune.
